Short Description:

1 day course.

Under the new STCW 2010 requirements for training and certification, updated proficiency training will need to be undertaken in fire prevention and fire fighting every five years.

Course Type:

STCW Refresher training

Full Description:

Under the STCW 2010 requirements for training and certification, holders of an advanced fire fighting certificate will require updated proficiency training in advanced fire fighting every five years.

In order to update your Proficiency in Advanced Fire Fighting training, one must also complete the updating training for Proficiency in Fire Prevention and Fire Fighting. The updating of FP&FF is required whether or not it was part of your original certificate training.

This full day course involves group work. The content is focused on controlling fire fighting operations on board ship, organising and training fire parties, fixed systems and fire investigations.

Please note: This course does not remove the obligation for holders to update their Fire Prevention and Fire Fighting Certificate every five years
